

Dear Sirs;

It seems to me that an a la carte option would do only one thing and that is ultimately increase the total charges to the customer since individual channels ordered sepearatley will certainly be more expensive than if ordered on a package basis.

I see nothing in the presentation that would prohibit cable and staellite people from still offering "discount packages."

Therefore, are we again simply creating yet one more non-effective piece of legislation to further muddle our legal system?

Thanks.

Respectfully,

Rev. Pat Evans
